To Whom It may concern:

I think the remaining nine states are obsessed with punishing Microsoft. They have taken up a personal position against Microsoft and Bill Gates only because they do not like either, just as Judge Jackson did. This is outrageous unnecessary and a complete waste of time and money to their constituents in those states. The Justice department reached a decision which was fair and brought this long legal process to and end. The nine remaining states should join in, rather then look at what they see as a company which they believe performs unfairly. Look at a company which has been primarily responsible for the huge technology movement throughout the world in the last ten years with their software moving information around the world, allowing world markets to develop faster and therefore creating jobs throughout the world.
